

To some, Chaos is just another Club Penguin army in the vast expansion of armies that exist and are continuing to be created (speaking of: Join Citrus Army). To some, Chaos is considered the worst army to exist and there's an unruly, unnecessary, and reason-less hate. To others, Chaos is one of the greatest armies to exist. Not because of their sizes, because of the camaraderie that exists among everyone in this army. To me, Chaos is another home. Growing up, I spent a ridiculous amount of time on Xat, Club Penguin, and in the Club Penguin army community. Despite this, I never thought that I would gain another family from these activities. Little did I know that these weirdos would become some of the best people that I would ever meet.

I joined Chaos in 2013. I joined at one of the most difficult times of my life. The 2014-2015 school year was rough for me. I was in 8th grade and my grandmother, who lived in Mexico City, got extremely sick and was hospitalized. Because of this, my mother would travel from our town in Arizona to Mexico City for extended periods of time, leaving behind me, my father, and my sister (who you all may know as Kandy or Mel). My father was a construction worker working an hour and a half away. With everything that I was doing to keep busy, I only saw him in the evenings and on the weekends. If I was home, I was likely on the Chaos Xat or on TinyChat with some of the Chaos folks. I would play MineCraft with Chainpro (Chain, if you ever see this, I hope you're doing alright. Thank you for being a part of my Chaos experience). on Xbox360. The BoyCutCrew #2k(??) chat that I was in with Mari, Owl, and Kandy was thriving (BoyCutCrew #2k20!!!). Because my mother was gone and my father was beginning his journey into alcoholism, we didn't have an actual Christmas and New Years Eve dinner. We would go to eat at Applebee's and call it a day. While my dad would go drink his rum and Coke Zero mixture, I would vibe on TinyChat with the Chaos OG's, getting hyper off of a soda with no sugar. Owl would vibe with her weird face-filters, always whispering if she even spoke. CR was always hyper, nothing has changed (he is a lowkey crackhead). Different Chaos people filtering in and out of the video calls. CR and Owl put up with a lot of my trashy, emo guitar playing (I was very into My Chemical Romance at the time and I had just gotten a , yikes), they deserve all of the respect. It wasn't a great holiday season for me. Ever since 2014, I stopped celebrating my birthday and the holiday season became of less-importance to me. These late night TinyChat calls and Xat conversations made the days a bit better. To this day, I look forward to holidays as a way to spend more time with both of my families. In the year 2015, my grandmother passed away from cancer and other complications. This was about when I started to disappear from the Club Penguin army scene but the memories that I had made stayed with me. I would pop in and out here and there as a way to say "hey" but things change. Y'all know how it is.

The moral of the previous paragraph is that you guys made everything easier. Chaos was a second home that I could go to while the apartment I lived in was going through a difficult time. I might be a hard ass now with my supposedly "intimidating" vibe but I was a depressed n00b back then. While what I went through may not be viewed as something so difficult, it was something that completely changed my outlook on life. Some of these members helped me cope with anything that I was going through. All of this from a Club Penguin army? I never thought that would happen either.

In Chaos, I learned what it meant to be a leader. As cheesy as this may sound, I was even able to implement some of the things that I had learned in Chaos into reality. Being a leader in band during high school, I was able to implement one of the most important things that I had learned from Chaos: While anyone can be a leader, few can be a leader and a friend. Sure, being the supposed intimidating person I am probably helped out. Being someone that these kids could always go to, a friend, even after I graduated and after a ton of "band drama" went down, helped to create a bond with these kids that I had never had with any of the previous band leaders. I learned this from the Chaos leaders. I learned this from my friends in Chaos who weren't even official leaders. I learned more about myself through Chaos than anything else. I learned more about love and friendship here than I did with some of my life-long friends from school. I don't care if that makes me look like a loser because it's the truth. Chaos helped shape me into who I am, even when I took a break away from Club Penguin armies for a while.

Owlita, I am so proud of you for getting through everything that you have gone through these last few years. I'm so proud of you for graduating high school and graduating college. I'm sorry that you didn't get to have a full-blown graduation due to the 'rona but regardless, I know you are going to be the best Spanish teacher there is. It makes me ridiculously happy that you are out here doing some of the things you love and that although I am a bit late to the party, I get to experience some of these achievements with you. You were there for me at times when it felt like no one else was. You dealt with a lot of my edgy bullshit and stayed up with me on nights where everything felt like it was too much. My edgy ass self would say dumb shit like, "I stay up asking myself, 'why?'" , only to say something like, "You wouldn't understand rn" whenever you'd ask me, "why what?". I still haven't found the answer to my question but I will let you know when I do. I'd write more but I'm not saying goodbye to you, only our CP army days. I know we will continue bullying each other and seeing what else we do with the rest of our lives. Welcome to Clown Rebellion (or CR for short!) Tired of always being clowned on? Mariela, I sometimes still can't believe you're all grown up. A high school graduate with a job??? That's not the little Mariela I used to know who I would joke about shipping cereal to whenever you were hungry late at night. I'm proud of you for everything you've done up to this point despite whatever disparities you have had to face. Keep speaking out for what you believe in, don't let anyone silence you. Keep sending weird gifs, we all secretly love them even if some people act like they don't. Welcome to Clown Rebellion (or CR for short!) Tired of always being

CR, you're the biggest (and only) clown I've ever met but you're my favourite clown. I remember our anime rants about Death Note and Attack on Titan back in the day to crazy TinyChat calls (BRING BACK THE ATTACK ON TITAN FANFIC YOU WROTE). We used to vibe like no one else because we were into some of the weirdest things. I'm glad we've been able to kind of stay in touch over the years through Instagram. I can't wait to see where our new friendship goes with our shitty memes and our attempts at getting fit this summer. I'm also waiting for my diss track, bro. Drop it. Next time you call me a clown though, you're getting hit with the, "What the fuck did you just fucking say about me, you little bitch? I'll have you know I graduated top of my class in the Navy Seals, and I've been involved in numerous secret raids on Al-Quaeda, and I have over 300 confirmed kills. I am trained in gorilla warfare and I'm the top sniper in the entire US armed forces. You are nothing to me but just another target. I will wipe you the fuck out with precision the likes of which has never been seen before on this Earth, mark my fucking words. You think you can get away with saying that shit to me over the Internet? Think again, fucker. As we speak I am contacting my secret network of spies across the USA and your IP is being traced right now so you better prepare for the storm, maggot. The storm that wipes out the pathetic little thing you call your life. You're fucking dead, kid. I can be anywhere, anytime, and I can kill you in over seven hundred ways, and that's just with my bare hands. Not only am I extensively trained in unarmed combat, but I have access to the entire arsenal of the United States Marine Corps and I will use it to its full extent to wipe your miserable ass off the face of the continent, you little shit. If only you could have known what unholy retribution your little "clever" comment was about to bring down upon you, maybe you would have held your fucking tongue. But you couldn't, you didn't, and now you're paying the price, you goddamn idiot. I will shit fury all over you and you will drown in it. You're fucking dead, kiddo." San, I know we just met like a month ago but you're pretty sick ngl. I love learning about computer games and computer stuff from you even though I'm a total n00b at stuff like that. If you're still here reading, congratulations. DM me and I will DM you a spam of the Clown Rebellion welcome for two minutes straight. In all seriousness, I am really appreciative of everyone that I have met throughout the years. I know that there are some new people that I just met who I did not mention or you were offline when I was going through the list. You guys are all still very important to me and I will forever appreciate each and every one of the qualities that you brought to the Chaos family. I have learned many new things from all of you. I'm not gonna lie and say, "I won't ever forget y'all" because I deadass forgot who Marcus was and apparently we used to be tight back in the day but I will appreciate the memories we made together for as long as I can.

The revival of Chaos brought upon a new era in my life for me. While COVID-19 is horrid and we wish all of those affected the absolute best, I am grateful for the way it brought me close to my second family once again. It has created new family members and strong new friendships. The Chaos Army of Club Penguin may be over but it is not something to mourn. Instead, we should view this ending as a welcoming of a new era. An era of growth as we move forward in our lives at a time where we are all struggling with the happenings of the world. From here on out, there is only growth.

Always remember,

SOUR POWER EVERY HOURdne
